

TERRY MCKINNEY

Freelance musician, teacher and clinician, Terry McKinney has served as principal percussion of the Baton Rouge Symphony since 2007, and is a regular substitute with the Houston Symphony. He has performed with the Midland Symphony Orchestra, San Antonio Symphony, Houston's Greenbriar Consortium, and Gateways Festival Orchestra.

Terry received a Bachelor of Music from the University of Texas and Master of Music and teaching certificate from Texas A&M University-Commerce. He lives in Texas where he recently completed a post-graduate program in Data Science and Business Analytics at the Texas McCombs School of Business.